

10.2 - Reference list of countries

The coding system used by moveon to identify the countries of institutions, addresses, nationalities and countries of birth is the ISO 3166-1 alpha-2 code. This code is published by the International Organization for Standardization (ISO) and is the most widely used in the world. The list of codes in moveon is limited to independent countries. The code XX has been added to represent the value "unknown". The code OO has been added to represent the value "stateless". The code for the United Kingdom in this system is GB.
